Reasons for Allowance

1. This application has been examined.
2. The RCE and amendment filed 8/4/05 has been entered.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The RCE and amendment were filed 8/4/05 only to add in the dependent claims 48-50 to fully bring out the additional embodiments regarding the email composition program. These embodiments do have basis in the specification page 8 lines 20-27. The amendment filed 4/11/05 continues to place the application into condition for allowance by incorporating into the independent claims the features that the application program changes the appearance of the text input by the user if the apparent affective state of the user indicates that the text output by the application should be marked, or that the manual degree of force on the keyboard or mouse determines the apparent affective state of the user which in turn changes the operation of the application program. Any remaining unallowable claims or dependent claims from which the features are repeated are cancelled by the amendment. The combined features as set forth in the independent claims (1 – information system under affective control, 9 – method, 19 – information system, 33 - information system determining affective user state by the degree of force applied to a key on the keyboard, 34 – information system determining affective user state by the degree of force applied to a button on a mouse) are not set forth in the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
